CHICAGO BULLS COLLEGE PREP [2040 W. Adams]:

Rasaan is a member of the Founding Class of Chicago Bulls College Prep. Earlier this year, he addressed his classmates at the campus's grand opening event about the importance of setting a high standard for the school during its inaugural year. Rasaan serves as the student council vice-president. Like all freshmen at Noble campuses, Rasaan takes double math and literacy classes and a physics course as part of the core curriculum to prepare him for the rigors of college. The Bulls campus also requires him to participate in 80 minutes of physical education daily, where he learns to navigate a weight room and gym equipment so that he has the skill set to be physically fit for life.

GARY COMER COLLEGE PREP [7200 S. Ingleside]:

When Rosie enrolled at Gary Comer College Prep, she knew she would be attending a discipline-focused school with challenging classes. She didn't know that she would also have the chance to change her life by turning around her physical health. With the help of Coach Thomas, her health and fitness teacher, Rosie has learned the value of eating right and exercising and has completely changed her habits. She also studies yoga at school and as a result learned to handle and cope with stress. Rosie's success incorporating healthy habits into her life at Gary Comer College Prep makes her an example for her peers.

GOLDER COLLEGE PREP [1454 W. Superior]:

Lauren is a sophomore at Golder College Prep and has already earned several awards including Composition Student of the Quarter and honor roll. While maintaining a 3.79 grade point average, she is a member of Cheer Club, acts in campus plays, participates in student council and leads the Drama Club as its president. In just over a year, Lauren has distinguished herself at Golder by the quality of her work and contributions to the greater community.

MUCHIN COLLEGE PREP [1 N. State]:

Shaunice chose to attend the Muchin campus because "this school is safe and the teachers care." Shaunice lives in an underserved Chicago neighborhood where school choice is severely limited so she travels from the far south side each day to Muchin. Shaunice is a cheerleader, a member of the South Shore Drill Team and enjoys her math classes at Muchin. She says her single-gender advisory group "has become her second family" and thinks that Muchin teachers really care.

NOBLE STREET COLLEGE PREP [1010 N. Noble]:

Fabiola is a senior at Noble's flagship campus, where she maintains a 4.7 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale). During the summer after her sophomore year she spent four weeks studying in Japan. The following summer she attended the prestigious Leadership Enterprise for a Diverse America conference at Princeton University. Fabiola is a member of the Yearbook Club and a founding member of the Russian Olympiad Team at Noble. She was recently the lead tour guide for the Russian Ambassador's visit to Noble Street. She has been invited to tour several colleges and her top choices currently include: Princeton, Middlebury, Macalester and Davidson. Fabiola plans to pursue language and international studies in college.

PRITZKER COLLEGE PREP [4131 W. Cortland]:

Andrea is part of Pritzker's first graduating class. She has participated in Early College Scholars, an after-school program that has helped her prepare academically and personally to attend one of the nation's best universities. Last year, Andrea was selected for the Chicago Scholars program, a very competitive program which will guide her all the way through college to a career or graduate study. She has been accepted to three excellent colleges through the Chicago Scholars program, and is also a finalist for a Posse Foundation scholarship to attend DePauw University. Andrea will be the first in her family to go to college.

RAUNER COLLEGE PREP [1337 W. Ohio]:

Francisco is a senior at Rauner College Prep, where he is taking Advanced Placement courses and is a student council officer. He plans to attend the University of Notre Dame and double-major in Psychology and Biology. He will be the first member of his family to go to college. Francisco knew he would go to college after he attended a summer program at Georgetown University, an opportunity presented to him by Noble.

ROWE-CLARK MATH & SCIENCE ACADEMY, THE EXELON CAMPUS [3645 W. Chicago Ave.]:

Semaj, a junior at Rowe-Clark, is interested in math, science and business. Semaj hopes to use his math and science skills to run his own restaurant one day. He attended a summer program at Kendall College, where he learned about the fundamentals of operating a restaurant and also participated in hands-on cooking lessons. Semaj enjoys learning about math and science through innovative programs at RCA such as the campus's solar unit, during which students analyze live data from the school's solar panels. Semaj appreciates the safe environment at Rowe-Clark, and regularly stays after school to participate on the football team and get extra help from his teachers with projects and homework.

UIC COLLEGE PREP, THE LSV CAMPUS [1231 S. Damen]:

Mark is a sophomore at UIC College Prep. Mark is in the top third of his class, plays football and participates in band. Students at the UIC campus have the opportunity to study directly on the University of Illinois's college campus at least four times a year through an innovative health-science curriculum developed by UIC College Prep teachers and UIC professors and staff. Students attend lectures led by UIC professors and participate in laboratory projects with UIC graduate students as mentors. His experiences at the University of Illinois thus far led Mark to take courses at Depaul University last summer. Mark chose to enroll at UIC College Prep because he wanted more opportunities than his Austin neighborhood high school could provide.
